SEC Appropriates $133,000 For Student Organizations

Expenditures of some $133,000, were approved of by the Students' Executive Council, in passing the budgets of over 45 campus organizations. Approximately 12 meeting hours on the part of the Council were involved over the weekend in debates over the various estimates presented, which ranged from a $35,611.20 figure from the McGill Daily, to a sum of $15.00 asked for by the McGill Philatelic Society.

In keeping with last year's policy, the Council's main concern was to balance the year's budget without having to delve into either the Students' Society surplus or to count on possible donations from anonymous sources. Good financing on the part of the majority of the organizations involved was largely responsible for enabling the achievement of this aim, with the budget finally passed expecting an excess of revenues over expenditures of $308.14.

Capital Expenditures

In order to make use of the Students' Society surplus, and anticipated revenue from anonymous sources, the Council passed some $3500.00 in non-recurring, capital expenditures, to be taken from this account. They thus bypassed the necessity of having to budget for these from the universal fees making up the regular revenue of the Students' Society.

A McGill Daily budget calling for excess of expenditures over revenues of $5,941.20 was passed, this figure representing an increased loss of some $3,000.00 over last year. It was explained to the Council by Neville Linton, Editor of the

by the SEC Reporter

Daily, that this increase was due to the fact that printing costs had risen greatly this year, and that the Daily actually would be operating on a budget somewhat under last year's. One hundred dollars was granted for the Canadian University Press Conference, this year to be held in Montreal during Christmas vacation. This sum, however, will be taken from the non-recurring expenditures account as the location of the conference changes from year to year, and the Daily will not have to bear this expense in the future.

Yearbook Loss Cut In Half

The loss sustained by the McGill Annual was cut in half this year, with an excess of expenditure over revenues of only $1,109.14 being called for in the budget passed by Council. The major change made was the result of a Council decision to cut out commissions on advertising in Old McGill.

The McGill SCOPE Committee presented a budget calling for a deficit of $2689.00, an increase of over $600.00 from last year. The Council carried a motion proposed by Mr. David Freedman, Arts and Science Representative, calling for the grant of a figure not to exceed $2500.00 to the committee, the allocation of which should be supervised of by the Finance Committee of the SEC.

The McGill Union deficit this year is expected to be only $6,754.00, as compared with $10,934.12 last year. It was pointed out, however, that the cost of repairs and redecorations to the Union carried out during the summer were included under the budget of the previous year, since the '56-'57 Union Executive was responsible for the authorization of these expenditures.

Undergraduate Society

The Arts and Science Undergraduate Society called for an SEC grant of $1,452.50 which the Council agreed was exorbitant. Wilfred Hastings, Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Society, drew the meeting's attention to the fact that the Arts and Science books from last year had not yet been closed due to negligence and carelessness on the part of the students. It was therefore agreed to set up a committee to investigate the activities of this Undergraduate Society, and to see whether more efficient and effective handling of this group's affairs could be facilitated.

The SEC approved of a $1600.00 grant to the Medical Undergraduate Society. This represents almost a $4.00 SEC subsidy per medical student, over and above the grant of $1.00 per student automatically made by the SEC to the MUS. At the SEC meeting held on October 1, 1957, a committee was set up to meet with the officers of the Medical Undergraduate Society and try to arrive at a suitable per capita grant to the M.U.S. The committee is to report back to the S.E.C. at its next meeting.

This committee presented its report, and proposed a motion to the SEC on Sunday night regarding M.U.S. grants. This motion, how-

MUS Amendment Meets Opposition

by Donna Irony
Associate Editor

Amendments to the Constitution of the Students' Society of McGill University have been proposed by the Medical Undergraduate Society. They will highlight the agenda of a general meeting of the Students' Society called for Wednesday, November 6th. These amendments would, in effect, increase the grant made to the M.U.S. from $1.00 to $6.00 per medical student, and would also require a two-thirds majority of the Meds to alter the allocation of fees to their Society in the future.

At present, an unconditional grant of $1.00 per medical student is made to the M.U.S. by the Students' Society as it is to all undergraduate societies at McGill. The amendment, if passed, would not only increase this figure by a factor of 6, but would also change the method of its disbursement. At present, the SEC receives a $15.00 grant for each Students' Society member from the Cashier of the University, and proceeds to send checks to each undergraduate society based on $1.00 per student. The M.U.S. amendment would take this out of the hands of the SEC, and would have the cashier send a check representing $6.00 per medical student directly to the Medical Undergraduate Society.

Louis Donolo, President of the Students' Society and Chairman of the SEC stressed the fact that the Students' Society had been formed to bring students together, and that if it became dismembered into separate interest groups, this function would be lost. "We will be selling the Students' Society down the drain with passage of this motion," stated Donolo, "because we are committing ourselves and future Councils to an expenditure which we cannot make, which may not be necessary, and which will destroy the unity of the Students' Society."

Mosher States Med Case

Garth Mosher, President of the M.U.S., presented the Medical Students' case to the SEC at their meeting on October 1st. He explained that due to the unique needs of the medical students, based on differences in curriculum and the orientation of their academic year, they were unable to partake of the majority of the activities and services provided by the Students' Society to its members. He stressed the fact that this lack of participation was dictated by "ability and opportunity, rather than being a matter of choice." At that meeting, he stated that if no satisfactory conclusion was reached by the SEC to the M.U.S. situation, it would leave him no alternative but to take any constitutional means available to force a decision upon the council.

The M.U.S. amendments were signed by a majority of the medical students and were presented in the form of a petition for a special meeting of the Students' Society. Mr. Mosher agreed, however, to allow a general meeting to be called, thereby fulfilling a constitutional requirement that at least one general meeting of the Society be called per term. A quorum of 300 students is essential in order for any action to be taken.

David Freedman, SEC representative from Arts and Science, saw in the M.U.S. request the danger of the destruction of the Students' Society. Freedman stressed that "any student who believes in the future of the Students' Society and student activities at McGill has a responsibility to attend the November 6th meeting."

"On Tuesday" Series

The "On Tuesday" series is holding its second meeting today at 5:00 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Chemistry Building. The speaker, Dr. John McGill-Krumm, Chaplain of Columbia University, will speak on the topic, "Constructive Doubt and Religious Faith". Dr. Krumm will be introduced by Prof. LeDain of the Faculty of Law. The series is sponsored by the Student Christian Movement.

Dr. Krumm, who was born in South Bend, Indiana, graduated from the University of California in 1935 and received his Ph. D. from Yale in 1948. He was Dean and Rector of St. Paul's Cathedral in Los Angeles before taking his present post at Columbia. Dr. Krumm is the author of the book, "What's In a Name?" and co-author with Dean Pike of "Road Blocks to Faith".

U.S. Frat Expels Chapter

Theta Xi Fraternity on the Amherst College campus has been suspended by the ruling body of Theta Xi after it pledged a Negro. The Amherst chapter was suspended by a Convention vote for two years.

According to the minutes of the Convention, the suspension occurred because for several years the Amherst chapter has been forcing many formidable issues which were detrimental to the affinity and general welfare of the Theta Xi fraternity.

The minutes continued: "Although the Grand Lodge of Theta Xi has sought the co-operation of the Amherst chapter and requested that it return to a complete compliance with the constitution, Am-

from the Connecticut Campus Daily

herst has failed to fulfill its obligations as a chapter and has consistently reflected its lack of desire to function within the range of fraternity harmony." The records continued: "The reason for suspension ranged from Amherst's breach of the national unity to disuse and lack of regard for fraternity ritual."

Peter Parker, president of the Amherst chapter, stated: "We are now operating as a local fraternity in order to carry on the business of the house, but we have voted to try for reinstatement in two years at the next convention."

"The Amherst Student", the college newspaper stated that "The chapter was suspended after it pledged a Negro student," which according to Parker, "is not the case mentioned in the official statement of suspension."

Said Walter Fletcher, president of the University of Connecticut chapter of Theta Xi and a delegate to the convention: "Discrimination was not the cause of the suspension of the Amherst chapter. Our Constitution contains no discriminating clauses and anyone, regardless of race or creed can rush our house. The only considerations for membership are character and qualification."

Money For The Masses?

The forthcoming city elections are providing much material for accusations as to how much waste and graft does go on in City Hall. This sort of vituperative warfare is typical of elections whether civic, provincial or federal. The core element reflected in such outbursts is the undeniable concern of the public with what happens to its money.

At election time on this campus little is ever said by candidates on financial matters and there is a general apathy in the student body in this direction. Actually, the amount of money spent annually on student activities is very high and a lack of interest by the students whose money is being spent is indicative of poor responsibility — the sort of irresponsibility that leads to poor citizenship and to poor public administration.

This weekend the SEC passed a preliminary budget for the current year with expenditures totalling $133,000. The final figures will almost certainly be in excess of this amount. Many hours of work went into passing this budget and we feel that a good job was done. There were many disconcerting factors nonetheless; there was for instance the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society whose budget and programme the council found so unsatisfactory that a committee was appointed to look into the working of that organization. There was the increasing number of inter-collegiate conferences being held on the campus which take a considerable amount of money and time — indeed there were cases of possible conflict on the dates calendar. There was the high proportion of budgets being spent on social events of such a nature that only a few executive-types could benefit.

We would be the last to suggest that there was any graft in Students' Society affairs. There is, however, a good deal of unnecessary expenditure and some wastage. It is also true that proportionately few students do get any benefit from their fees and this condition can be improved by more intelligent interest on the part of the rank and file. The question of the size of the extracurricular programme is also relevant here. That university officials are none too happy over an expanding Students' Society programme involving large-scale expenditure is well known to the SEC. Once funds are forthcoming there is theoretically no limit to the extracurricular program.

We at McGill are fairly well off in this direction; since 1954 the SEC has been in receipt of substantial anonymous donations which have helped buttress the regular programme. At the beginning of this semester the reserve fund stood at $31,000 and the surplus fund at $21,000. This is a fair amount of money; it's yours, we suggest you keep an eye on it.

Letters To The Editor

Up With
Civic Action

Sir:

Newspapermen are busy people. Their job is so difficult that one is inclined to think that only very intelligent individuals should try their hand at it. I believe with many others that it takes mainly seriousness and sincerity.

Seriousness to talk about serious things seriously, and sincerity... people have lost the meaning of this word (including many newspapermen).

It is not to the merit of the Daily nor to that of Wallace John Macheath that articles like The Twopenny Opera be printed. (Daily of Oct. 17th) It is quite obvious by what he writes, that the author is no longer able to contain his "ill-shaped, ill-aimed" observations. The facts are so distorted and the logic so tumbling that it leaves the impression of having been written in the sickening mood of envy of his friend's happiness in Toronto.

Should Mr. Macheath be informed, he would know that the Court has recognized that organized vice existed and was even protected in Montreal. He would also know that Chief Langlois was reinstated because Judge Rinfret thought that the Chief's "slow mental process" (Judge Rinfret's words) prevented him from realizing what the situation was.

The Drapeau-DesMarais team has been involved mainly with the morality problem. No one before has had the courage to fight the "highly organized rings headed by wealthy and powerful men" of Mr. Macheath's article. That alone deserves support and admiration (unless you like those "rings"...))

That there still are houses of prostitution and "barbottes" or blind-pigs, no one better than Mayor Drapeau knows it. It is a big result if only five of them can be found in a five block radius instead of the previous ten or fifteen. And this is one more reason why Montreal still needs Mayor Drapeau.

Mr. Macheath should also know that over two dozen experiences like the projected Dozois Plan have proved unsuccessful both in the U.S. and in Toronto, while Mayor Drapeau's plan receives approbation from all major organizations concerned in social welfare.

Mr. Macheath should also know that the news has reached the public that Vincent Cottroni (maybe you know that one, Mr. Macheath, don't you?) is devoting all his energies for Mr. Croteau's Greater Montreal Rally. That alone should make any "sincere" (if there are any) Fournier-Croteau supporter change his mind.

Only the blind find it hard to choose between black and white...

Marcel Boisvert, Med. I

A Lover of Fine Things

Sir:

I am a McGill student with a complaint; not a very serious one perhaps, in this age of satellites, series etcetera, but one which I hope to rectify herewith. One afternoon I attended the Western football game full of good spirit (and with plenty to draw on if need be) hoping for a great Redman victory and a glorious spectacle (I refer, of course to our dazzling cheerleaderettes).

Unfortunately, I was disappointed by a loss to the opposing Western team, and I was also disappointed by our cheerleaderettes. Why? To be sure they seemed (from the distance I sat) to be of the highest grade of Canadian pulchritude, they cheered vociferously at any occasion, they exhorted us to cheer most charmingly and seemed to do all that was required of them, BUT there were no cartwheels. Why were there no cartwheels? I do not know. Certainly the weather was warm enough to permit such exercise, there was certainly enough demand for cartwheels from the spectators (in fact the word became almost a rallying cry at some points), and all the male cheerleaders obliged most willingly. But from the cheerleaderettes there came nary a motion, not even so much as a suggestion of this particular gyration.

Now I am a mild man. I consider my demands on life slight enough, but I cannot accept football without cartwheels and I do not intend to do so. Perhaps an inquiry aimed at the powers that be in R.V.C. would have some effect, may be the formation of 'The Cartwheels for McGill Club' is what is needed, or the problem might be easily solved by issuing one pair of red panties to each girl concerned. Failing any of these possibilities, I suppose one could always switch one's allegiance to the Western team whose cheerleaderettes, though definitely below the high standard here at McGill, execute cartwheels of the most eye-filling variety.

Class Of '32 Gives $40,000 To Fund

The graduates who left McGill 25 years ago have returned with a tangible expression of their feelings towards "Old McGill" — a gift of $40,878 for the Alma Mater Fund.

A special drive for funds by the 25-year class has been the custom since the class of 1930 donated $17,185 in 1955. This year's contribution is the largest ever made to the Fund by a single graduate class.

Representatives of the class of 1932 in Arts and Science, Commerce, Engineering, Medicine, Law, and R.V.C. gathered Saturday at the home of Chancellor R. E. Powell to accept his thanks on behalf of the University. A brief report was delivered by Mr. J.G. Notman, Chairman of the Fund, who is a Science graduate of 1922. In his report, Mr. Notman announced that the total amount received by the Alma Mater Fund so far in 1957 has reached $191,000, donated by 8,400 graduates. Mr. Notman, who will head the drive again next year, expressed his hope that $60 per graduate would be the standard of contribution.

The Alma Mater fund was founded in 1948, and has since mushroomed to the point where 53 regional committees in Canada, the United States, Britain, South America, and the West Indies have contact with graduates of McGill, of whom about 45% contribute to the Fund.

The money collected is not earmarked for any specific purpose, but is included in a general fund to be used for whatever purposes the University's administration sees fit.

A spokesman for the Fund said Saturday that it was hoped to reduce the deficit which has been affected to a considerable degree by the salary increases gained by the teaching staff.

In this connection, Mr. Powell said, "We can't seem to get the pay up without increasing the deficit. I hope we will somehow be able to resolve the impasse between the provincial and federal governments", regarding the contentious issue of Federal grants to universities.

ATTENTION TREASURERS BUDGET NOTICE

All treasurers or signing officers of those clubs which submitted budgets to the Students' Executive Council please meet at 1:00 P.M. in the Union lounge on Thursday, October 24th. If the treasurer or signing officer cannot attend, please send a substitute.

Avant-garde Art On Display

The School of Architecture this week is showing a selection of water colours, charcoals, and colour studies made by the students at their annual summer sketching school. The school this year was held at Cornwall, Ontario in the very hub of the Seaway project. The mood and expression of this vast engineering project is well captured in the quick water-colour studies of Morton Rubinger and Jean C. Martineau.

Particularly note-worthy are the excellent line and texture studies of Mel Charney. His work, though standing apart from the others, is an accent which ties the whole together.

In Europe one soon becomes accustomed to the fact that the most interesting art exhibits are to be seen in the small out of the way shops and studios in the older areas of the cities. Our campus is in this respect very much like Europe. For hidden in an old, decaying, pseudo-Victorian mansion on University Street is one of the most versatile of art exhibits ever to be seen at this University.

It is a significant fact that the most avant-garde art of its time receives little space and notice — whereas the decadent, conservative, and stagnant art is displayed on public terraces.

The exhibit will be on for this week only and should not be missed by anyone interested in the art of our times.

The majority of works are on exhibit on the 2nd floor of the School of Architecture Building.

Women's Union Book Exchange

The Women's Union Book Exchange, located in the basement of R.V.C. will be open Tuesday from 12-2. This is probably the last time it will be open before Christmas, so all students wishing to buy or sell texts, particularly science texts, are asked to do so at this time.

"The Political Results of Sputnik" will be the topic of discussion at 1:00 P.M. today in the ballroom of the Union. The speaker will be Professor Michael Brecher of the Political Science department. The panel includes Stuart Smith, David Franklin, Morris Fish and Yves Fortier. Professor Brecher's address will be followed by a question period and discussion from the floor.

Faculty Of Music

For the fifth consecutive season the Faculty of Music, will present to Montreal audiences, a group of distinguished speakers in the field of music. As in past seasons, these lectures are offered to the public without charge and organized for the Faculty by the distinguished Canadian pianist, Dr. Ellen Ballon.

For the first of the 1957-58 lecture series, Dr. Ballon has arranged to bring Deems Taylor the eminent composer, author, and critic. Long remembered for his intermission commentaries for the New York Philharmonic radio broadcasts, he is equally well known for his many books and compositions in almost every field of music.

HILLEL SERIES

Professor James W. Miller, MacDonald Professor of Philosophy at McGill University and Dr. Solomon Frank, Rabbi of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue of Montreal will inaugurate a new series of Noon-hour discussions arranged by the Cultural Committee of the Bnai Brith Hillel Foundation at McGill University, today, at Hillel House, 3460 Stanley Street, at 1:00 pm.

This series of discussions, to be known as "Town and Gown" will bring together prominent members of the Faculty and of the Community at large in discussing issues of contemporary importance. The subject for today is: "Why the Ethical Life?"

The program is held in the Lounge Room of Hillel House — a luncheon service is available at the Hillel Canteen.

Poirier, Creighton Tied With 4 TD's

Joe Poirier, flashy McGill end, came through with two big touchdowns on Saturday to put himself on top of the scoring parade, tied with Western's Dale Creighton. The Mustang star went scoreless this weekend.

In third place, staying close to the leaders, is Sandy Sandzelius, who played another great game on Saturday. A touchdown, two converts, and a single against Queen's gave him 20 points for the season.

Bill Britton got the two Western touchdowns against Varsity on Saturday, which puts him in fourth place. Johnny Bennett and Willie Casanova are fifth and sixth respectively in the scoring parade.

Speaking strictly about the Redmen, statistically Dick Carr, Carl Hansen, and Sandzelius were the hot spots in the Queen's rout Saturday.

Carr spent the afternoon 'threading the needle' so to speak, as he completed 11 passes out of 18 attempted. Poirier was on the receiving end of five of these for a total of 68 yards gained. At the other end of the line, Bennett gathered in four heaves for 63 yards.

On the ground, Hansen sparked with a net gain of 72 yards in nine carries, while Sandzelius was almost equally effective with 91 yards gained for 22 tries. Hansen also shone as a punt return artist averaging 8.4 yards from 8 returns.

The following statistics were released late last night by the MFWA:

Girls' Swimming Tryouts In Gym

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7 pm, and on Saturday, Oct. 26, at 9:45 am, there will be practices for all advanced synchronized swimmers in the Memorial Pool. Girls who wish to work on routines and Inter-collegiate or Marlinette figures are urged to attend.

Preliminary tryouts for the McGill racing and diving team will be held in the Memorial Pool on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 8 pm. Speed events will include 50 yard races in the butterfly, breast, free style, and back strokes; a 75 yard individual medley, and 100 yards free style. Divers will perform a front dive, back dive, inward dive and two optional dives.

Practices for speed swimming take place Monday through Friday from 5 to 6 pm. Diving coaching is available on Wednesday nights at 7:30. See above for synchronized practices. For inquiries, please call swimming manager at VI. 5-9876.

McGill Sports Heroes

(Third in a series)

Football — Richard Otto B.Sc. 9. Came to McGill in 1947. After seven years made the McGill Redmen in 1954. Coach says he is spirited and loads of fun in the clubhouse. Many laughs. McGill loses. Ha! Ha!

Ruggermen Win First Of Season

The McGill rugger team, playing its finest game of the season, finally came up with a win Saturday morning, as it defeated the Town of Mount Royal 9-3.

The first half was hard fought and evenly played. Neither team was able to score a touchdown due to the very slippery conditions of the field. After failing on his first try, Sass Khazzam opened the scoring of the game on his second penalty kick attempt to put McGill out in front 3-0. With four minutes remaining in the half, the Townies bounced back to even the score 3-3 on a similar play.

For the first time this season, the Red and White squad were able to hold the opposition scoreless for the remainder of the game while they racked up 6 more points. Khazzam accounted for 3 of these points on another penalty kick. Tom Farrell completed the scoring in the dying minutes of the game when he picked up a loose ball on the Townies' 10 yard line and rammed over the goal line for a touchdown which McGill failed to convert.

The following players are requested to report to-night, Tuesday, October 22nd at 7:00 pm for the game against the Montreal Wanderers; Allison Wren, Van Ingen, Aryton, Berlyn, Packard, Humphreys, Kaye, Rock, Luard, Meade, Simmons, I. Parsons, R. Parsons, Cookson, Farrell, Davis.

"What do I like about the Bell? The way they help you prepare for more and more responsibility!"

"First, the special induction course for college graduates acquainted me with all the various departments. This course helped me see the whole company picture — not just one little segment of it."

"In subsequent months, I was enabled to gain a good, clear idea of my department by working for a time in each of its different sections. That's good preparation, too! "Then, just recently, I was promoted to Unit Supervisor which includes a helpful two-weeks course in personnel and business management."

"My personal experience convinces me that the Bell will encourage any graduate who wants to grow with this expanding company".
